

TEST FOR CERTIFIED GUIDING LION

1. Can the Certified Guiding Lion choose the club he/she wants to guide, once they are certified?
  - No, the governor appoints the Certified Guiding Lion
  - Yes, the Guiding Lion may choose the club
  - Yes, if the club is in the Certified Guiding Lions' district
2. Does the Certified Guiding Lion need to attend all the meetings of the club?
  - Yes, majority of club's general and board meetings for two years
  - Yes, must attend meetings for the first six months
  - No, must attend the board meetings only.
3. Should the officers of the club participate in zone and district leadership training?
  - Yes, it's highly recommended
  - No, the Certified Guiding Lion provides all leadership training.
  - Yes, but only in the second year of the club
4. Who determines the projects the club supports?
  - The club members determine what they feel is important for their community
  - The Certified Guiding Lion MUST chose the appropriate project for the club
  - No, must attend the board meetings only.
5. Should the Certified Guiding Lion nominate mentors for the officers of the club?
  - Yes, so each officer is trained by an experienced officer with the most current information
  - No, all the training should be done by the Certified Guiding Lion
  - Only after one year and if the officers are not performing their jobs well
6. Should the Certified Guiding Lion discuss recruitment and retention during the training sessions?
  - No, it's not a problem for a new club
  - Only after a year and if a club is losing membership
  - Yes, it's important
7. Is it necessary to explain how to host productive and meaningful club meetings?
  - No, they are adults, they should know
  - Only if you see that the attendance is low
  - Yes, it is key to continued participation
8. How many club officer training sessions are recommended?
  - If they are good leaders, only one is needed
  - Five sessions
  - Six sessions, if a new club three before charter night and three after
9. Does the Certified Guiding Lion have to send in a report?
  - Yes, every three months
  - Yes, only at the end of the two-year term
  - Only if there are problems with the new club
10. Does the Certified Guiding Lion have to send in a final report?
  - Yes, this is a requirement for the award
  - Only if the club is not working
  - Only if they haven't sent any reports before

11. Should the Certified Guiding Lion encourage club members and officers to visit other well managed clubs?
  - No, it could confuse them and give them the wrong ideas
  - Only after two years of membership
  - Yes, it's a way of learning

12. When is it recommended to conduct the "Club Officer Training?"
  - Within the 30 days of the charter application approval or assignment to existing club
  - Two months after the charter night or assignment to existing club
  - Only if needed

13. Should the new clubs participate in district activities?
  - No, it should wait for at least two years
  - Only in cases of International disasters
  - Yes, as soon as possible

14. Should a new club have a net growth during its first two years?
  - No, the new members must first get to know each other before recruiting new members
  - Yes, it proves that the club is doing well
  - Only if they lose members

15. Should the Certified Guiding Lion determine where and when the new club holds its meetings?
  - Yes, of course the Certified Guiding Lion would make the best decision
  - No, it must be the decision of the new members
  - It must be held when it is convenient for the Certified Guiding Lion

16. Does the zone chairperson belong to the "Club Officers Mentor Team?"
  - Yes, he/she does
  - No, he/she is a different commitment
  - Only if the governor appoints him/her

17. How long should each session of the Club Officer Training" last?
  - All day
  - Minimum of three hours with a coffee break
  - Each session should last about an hour

18. Should the Certified Guiding Lion explain the fees and dues?
  - Only after the charter night
  - Not at the beginning, they may lose interest
  - Yes, it's an important issue

19. Should the Certified Guiding Lion encourage the club to create a "Membership Recruiting Plan?"
  - During the second year of the club
  - Yes, it's one of the club's main objective
  - Only if the new club is losing members

20. Is increasing meeting attendance an important issue for a new club?
  - Yes, it's important to keep members involved
  - In the beginning only the officers must attend
  - Only after the charter night